Many managers can provide returns you need in a bull market. But it's when the market becomes volatile that you see who can truly deliver on your investment strategies in any condition.

MetLife Investment Management Public Fixed Income has consistently achieved excess returns with less risk as evidenced by the fact that 92% of our strategies have produced a top quartile information ratio for the past 10 years. We offer investment strategies across the risk spectrum and work closely with clients to construct customized portfolios with attractive risk-reward characteristics that meet their unique needs. Our deep fundamental credit research, comprehensive approach to risk management, nimble trading execution, and accessible investment teams with an average of 25 years of public fixed income experience, allow us to deliver on a variety of performance goals.

You will experience a collaborative approach and access to investment teams from the start. Moreover, your single-point client relationship manager will provide high touch client service with transparency and proactive communication. We believe reliability, consistency in performance as well as client service are keys to helping you achieve your unique financial objectives.
